

Assisting Students in Distress

See Something. Say Something. Do Something.

SEE SOMETHING: Fairleigh Dickinson University (FDU) faculty and staff are in a unique position to demonstrate compassion for FDU students in distress.

Undergraduate and graduate students may feel alone, isolated, and even hopeless when faced with academic and life challenges. These feelings can easily disrupt academic performance and may lead to other serious consequences.

You may be the first person to SEE SOMETHING distressing in a student since you have frequent and prolonged contact with them.

SAY SOMETHING: Students exhibiting troubling behaviors in your presence are likely having difficulties in various settings including the classroom, with roommates, with family, and even in social settings.

Trust your instincts and SAY SOMETHING if a student leaves you feeling worried, alarmed, or threatened.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) permits communication about a student of concern in connection with a health and safety issue to an appropriate campus resource.

DO SOMETHING: Sometimes students cannot or will not turn to family and friends.

Doing something, like expressing concern and/or informing a student of services available to them, may be a critical factor in getting them to seek help.

Indicators of a Distressed Student Look for clusters; frequency, duration, and severity – not just isolated symptoms.

FDU Response Protocol

Follow the chart to determine who to contact when faced with a distressed student.

Is the student a danger to themselves or others, and/or does the student need immediate assistance for any reason?

Yes

The student's conduct is clearly and imminently reckless, disorderly, dangerous, or threatening including self-harm behavior.

Call 911 or Public Safety (201) 692-2222.

After speaking with Public Safety, report the concern to the Dean of Students Office (201) 692-2190.

Not Sure

The student shows signs of distress but I am unsure how serious it is. My interaction has left me feeling uneasy and/or really concerned about the student.

During Business Hours:
Call Office of Mental and Emotional Wellbeing: (201) 692-2174 or the Dean of Students (201) 692-2190

After Hours & Holidays:
Call the Public Safety Office.

No

I am not concerned for the student's immediate safety, but he/she is having significant academic and/or personal issues and could use some support.

Refer the student to an appropriate resource. Many of them are listed to the right. -->
